Heliski Holiday – Respect from the Heliski / Heliboarding Industry

The unique expertise of specialist heli-ski tour operator, Heliski Holiday, has gained the company the respect of the dozens of Heliski Operators in British Columbia, Canada.

The professionalism, knowledge, expertise and passion for the industry have led to praise for the company, and its founder, Nina Kaufman.

"It is great that out of a passion for this highest form of skiing and snowboarding, Nina is providing ski/snowboard enthusiasts from around the world such a personalized service," comments George Rosset, president of TLH Heliskiing and Last Frontier Heliskiing Ltd.

Great Canadian Heliskiing agrees "It is great to have Heliski Holiday working for our industry. The opportunities in this sport are so diverse that in order for heli-skiers to plan an adventure that is suitable for their group and ability can be challenging. Heliski Holiday and Great Canadian Heli-Skiing both specialize in delivering the best experience for each customer".

Tyler Freed, president of Coast Range Heliskiing said, "Heliski Holiday has been a great partner with Coast Range Heliskiing. Nina has consistently provided outstanding service and planning to guests and has repeatedly shown they are leaders in personalized heli-ski vacation planning".

With each operator differing from the others, having its own unique characteristics as well as a wide range of packages, Heliski Holiday can work through the myriad of possibilities to match a client's preferences to the best heliski provider, often identifying better heliski vacation options and deals than the client had thought of or hoped for. From this point in the process discussions move the process forward, conference calls allow for speedy answers to questions and a booking is concluded once the client is completely happy.

Heliski Holiday knows how to move through the process by first asking the questions that determine ability, schedule, timelines, budget, the number of people and the number of days. This information is processed, recommendations are offered and confirmations are made. Heliski Holiday ensures accurate and real time information by having a direct link to the management of each operator. There are no additional fees to the client for this unique quality service which ensures both first-time and experience heliskiers are matched with the right operator for them, leaving everybody happy.

Nina concludes, "no price can be placed on the added value our company offers, which is why our five star services are absolutely complimentary".
